RUBBER DOG

A WORD FROM JULIAN

Good evening.

Our appearance has led to certain expectations. We understand completely. The collars were a collective decision, and no one wished to reopen the discussion.

We wanted a record with warmth: melodies that linger, harmonies that feel like company, and a rhythm section that leaves a little room.

These songs concern things we are still learning: how to ask for what we want, when to put the telephone down, and how to make space for someone else.

Ruby Hart has been excellent company. We are delighted she could join us.

Thank you for listening. Do make yourself comfortable. We hope you will stay.
